

READ THE PASSAGE

Read slowly and notice details about how the flowers look, smell, and taste.

Flowers for Dinner

Flowers might look pretty on the dinner table. But what about serving them for dinner? In many cultures all around the world, people eat and enjoy different flowers in a variety of dishes.

The purple flowers of the lavender plant add a sweet lemon taste to chocolate cake or ice cream. Pansies, which have a grassy flavor, are a delicious addition to green salads. Bright yellow dandelion petals look cheerful when sprinkled over rice. Squash blossoms can be fried or stuffed with cheese. And the flowers of plants such as jasmine and chamomile are commonly used to make tea.

Does snacking on flowers sound weird? You may have eaten flowers already without realizing it! Several vegetables, such as cauliflower and broccoli, are actually flower buds. Broccoli forms tiny yellow blossoms as it continues to grow. Artichokes, if left on their stalks, form fuzzy purple blooms. And asparagus tips open into small, pale green or white flowers.

If you're interested in eating flowers, be sure to learn about the plants first. Not every flower is safe to eat. The best way to find a tasty—and safe—flower is to visit your local grocery store.

READ THE PASSAGE Look for details that help you visualize each competition described in the passage.

Crazy Contests

When you think about competitions, you probably think of sports such as basketball and football. Not all serious competitive events are athletic, though. One example is the Rock Paper Scissors World Championship, in which contestants compete for large cash prizes.

Rock Paper Scissors is a simple game between two players. Each player counts to three and then “throws” one hand forward, making one of three hand signals. A fist means “rock,” a flat hand means “paper,” and two extended fingers in a V shape means “scissors.” Rock wins against scissors, scissors wins against paper, and paper wins against rock. Although the game is simple, many players claim that they have developed complex strategies for winning.

Some people might consider a Rock Paper Scissors contest to be strange. Around the world, though, people compete in many events that others think are crazy. In England, a 200-year-old competition sends hundreds of people running down a hill, chasing a giant wheel of cheese. In Finland, hopeful guitar heroes compete in the Air Guitar World Championships by strumming invisible guitars in front of an audience. Wales hosts the yearly World Bog Snorkelling Championships, in which contestants wear silly costumes—dressed, for example, like a mermaid or an octopus—and swim through dark, stinky bog water as the crowd cheers.

These competitions are just a few of the crazy games that people play around the world. With some practice and training, maybe you could be a prize-winner in one of those contests yourself!

READ THE PASSAGE Look for words and phrases that help you visualize cockroaches.

Cockroach Fun Facts

When you think of interesting animals, you probably don't picture the common cockroach. However, although this insect isn't very pretty, it is pretty amazing.

Cockroaches are good at getting around. They can squeeze into very tight spaces, which comes in handy when they want to go through cracks in walls. A baby cockroach can flatten itself as thin as a dime. They're fast-moving bugs, too. Traveling at three miles an hour, a cockroach can easily scurry out of the way of looming feet or bug swatters.

Cockroaches are also tough. They can survive a month without food and a week without water. They can even survive for weeks without a head!

Next time you see a cockroach, show some respect for this common household pest. After all, the species has been around far longer than people—more than 280 million years, by some estimates. Now that's an old bug!

STRATEGY PRACTICE List at least two traits of cockroaches. For each trait, draw a picture that shows what you visualized.

SKILL PRACTICE Read each question. Fill in the bubble next to the correct answer.

- What main idea is supported by the fact that a cockroach can survive without its head?
 - Cockroaches are fast-moving.
 - Cockroaches are tough.
 - Cockroaches are common pests.
 - Cockroaches are smart.
- The passage compares a baby cockroach to a dime to show _____.
 - the speed of baby cockroaches
 - the round shape of baby cockroaches
 - the thinness of baby cockroaches
 - the color of baby cockroaches
- Which of these tells one way that cockroaches and humans are different?
 - Cockroaches can move faster.
 - Cockroaches have longer lives.
 - Cockroaches need food and water.
 - Cockroaches have existed longer as a species.
- Why do cockroaches flatten themselves?
 - to move more quickly
 - to survive longer without food or water
 - to escape a rolled-up newspaper
 - to squeeze through narrow spaces

READ THE PASSAGE Look for details that help you form a mental image of the animal shelter.A Sheltered Life

If you visit the animal shelter in Salinas, California, you'll see giant wood cutouts of a dog and a cat. These signs were placed in front of the building to catch people's attention. The supersized cutouts make people curious and encourage them to visit the shelter—and maybe even adopt a pet. Each year, the Salinas shelter takes in around 2,000 dogs and 2,000 cats. The animals are either strays or are dropped off by people who couldn't take care of them. Of the 4,000 animals, some of them are eventually adopted into new homes. Some animals are transferred to other shelters. And, unfortunately, some cannot be saved because they are too sick or are considered dangerous.

Animal shelters provide food, medicine, and a safe place for animals to sleep. But they are not ideal homes. The shelters are loud, and the animals stay in small cages. The people who work at shelters do their best to care for the animals, but the animals do not always get the attention or exercise they need.

To prevent so many animals from becoming homeless, pet owners should take good care of their pets. One of the best ways to care for pets is to spay or neuter them. This surgery prevents cats and dogs from having more babies. And that reduces the number of homeless animals that end up in shelters.

STRATEGY PRACTICE Describe how you pictured the animal shelter in Salinas.

Getting the Perfect Shot

The Cardona family was growing restless. Mr. and Mrs. Cardona had wanted a simple photo taken for their family's summer newsletter. Ms. Rourke, the photographer, was looking through her camera but wasn't taking any pictures.

"There isn't enough light on Mr. Cardona's moustache," she said to Jamila, her assistant. Jamila sighed, moved the lamp an inch to the left, and glanced at the family. The couple's two sons were starting to fidget. Jamila knew that they would soon start to complain. It was time to take the picture.

"Now Mrs. Cardona's hair looks too frizzy," Ms. Rourke remarked. "Jamila, please get the styling products." When Jamila returned, she noticed that the boys were giggling and poking each other. Their parents' smiles were drooping under the hot lights.

"Oh, now the boys are standing at the wrong angle," Ms. Rourke announced.

Mr. Cardona's face turned red. His wife looked like she was about to cry. Jamila quickly stepped up to the camera and snapped the picture. "All done!" she said. Everyone looked relieved, except for Ms. Rourke.
